FROM THE RABBI'S DESK

“Are You Essential or Non- Essential?”

The dictionary definition of “non-essential” is “not completely necessary.” Synonyms include “dispensable, gratuitous, inessential, needless, and unnecessary.” So imagine the impact on your self-esteem and self-worth when your employer tells you that you should stay home from work without pay for the foreseeable future because you are considered to be “non-essential.” That is exactly what over a million federal workers were told when the government shut down over a week ago. In fact, because the label made so many feel uncomfortable, they have changed the official descriptions to “exempt” and “non-exempt.”

Essential and non-essential. Perhaps when it comes to work these labels can be measured and defined, but when it comes to life is anyone actually non-essential? The Mishna (Sanhedrin 4:5) teaches us, “kol echad chayav lomar bishvili nivra ha'olam, every one of us is obligated to say ‘the world was created for me.’” How do we balance this statement with the declaration of Avraham Avinu, “anochi afar ve'ifer” (Bereishis 18:27) “I am but dust and ash?”

Rav Noach Weinberg z”l, the founder and Rosh Yeshiva of Aish HaTorah, used to explain: We are not supposed to say the world was created for me in a self-centered, self-absorbed, hedonistic way. Rather, “the world was created for me” means it falls to me to take care of the world. He would continue to challenge: if you knew you personally could solve the world’s problems, would you not feel the incredible privilege and responsibility to act? Would you not immediately take the necessary action to transform the world for the better? Why don’t we? Because most of us don’t believe we can and we don’t want to exert the energy and expend the resources necessary to try, so we give up before we even start.

The truth is, every single one of us is a unique expression of God in this world and each of us is uniquely positioned to contribute positively to the world in a way that nobody before us or after us possibly can. Being created b’tzelem Elokim, in the image of God, means that we are all essential personnel and each has a mission to accomplish. We simply need to believe that we are worthy and capable and we must be willing to try.

I am reading a fascinating new book by the great historian Martin Gilbert entitled “In Ishmael’s House: A History of Jews in Muslim Lands.” Early in the book, Gilbert describes the origins of Islam. In the year 610, Muhammad came to the conclusion that Arabs were the descendants of Yishmael, Avraham’s older son born in this week’s parsha, and he began preaching new beliefs and visions.

I was very surprised to learn that initially, Muhammad had very few followers. In fact, after three full years he had only 40 disciples. But he didn’t give up and tenaciously continued to spread his teaching and attract converts. By the year 630 he had amassed an army of 10,000 soldiers and conquered Mecca, turning it into a center of Islam. When he died just two years later at the age of 62, only 22 years after he had begun, almost all of the Arabian Peninsula had been conquered for Islam.

Today, Islam boasts 1.6 million adherents, comprising 23% of the world population. One man, who three years into his endeavor could only convince 40 people he was right, didn’t give up and I don’t need to tell you his religion’s impact on the world today.

There are many examples of individuals who single-handedly transformed the world sometimes for the better, and too often, for the worse. Christopher Columbus led Europe to the Western Hemisphere, Adolf Hitler orchestrated the world’s worst genocide, Eddie Jacobson convinced Truman to support the birth of the modern State of Israel, and the list could go on and on.

In this week’s parsha, Lech Lecha, we read about the man who spiritually revolutionized the world and his teachings transformed half of our planet from pagans to monotheists. Avraham Avinu didn’t have a Facebook account or a pulpit; he didn’t publish any books or upload Youtube videos, and he didn’t have his own radio show. Yet he taught the world to believe in one God and to stand for justice, charity, selflessness and righteousness.

Every single one of us is essential and can make the biggest difference in the world if we just believe in ourselves. In last week’s parsha, the Torah describes how Noach didn’t enter the ark until it began to rain. Rashi comments, Noach mi’katnei emunah haya, normally translated as Noach lacked faith in the Almighty, and therefore only entered the ark when he felt the rain actually begin to fall. The great chassidishe Rebbe, Rav Levi Yitzchak of Berdichev, explains that indeed Noach lacked faith, but not in the Almighty. Mi'katnei emunah haya means he lacked faith in himself. He didn't grasp that he could save the world if he would only inspire those around him and, as Avraham would later, advocate on the world's behalf. Noach failed to be a transformational leader and therefore witnessed the destruction of the world, all because he simply didn't believe in himself or his ability to make a difference.

As we continue to analyze the results of the Pew survey, it is clear that we may be witnessing the demise of the world of American Jewry, as over 70% are intermarrying and fully assimilating. While none of us may be a contemporary Avraham Avinu, each of us is obligated to follow his model and to consider how we can contribute to the essential mission of working to positively shape the world. Like some of the individuals I mentioned before, even one person with tenacity, resolve and belief in himself or herself can stem the tide of assimilation and transform American Jewry into a strong, vibrant and deeply committed community. Will it be you?

When it comes to the continuity of our people and our Torah values, nobody is exempt. Every single one of us is essential, so let's get to work.

HALACHIC QUESTIONS OF THE WEEK

Q: Can we eat from our papaya tree the first year it yields fruit?

A: Trees that produce fruit are subject to the laws of Orlah which includes not eating of the fruit the first three years. A tree that produces product within a year of being planted is Halachikly considered a "vegetable tree," and not a fruit tree. Papayas grow within 8 – 10 months of planting and therefore are considered a vegetable, not a fruit. Additionally, the proper Beracha for papaya is Borei Pro Haadama.

Please submit your question of the week on any topic to Rabbi Efrim Goldberg at reg@brsonline.org

PARSHAT LECH-LECHA SUMMARY

Journey to Canaan. Hashem told Avram to leave Charan and proceed to another land that Hashem would show him.

Journey to Egypt. Because of a famine, Avram and Sarai temporarily journeyed to Egypt. Avram, fearful the Egyptians would kill him to take Sarai, told her to say that she was his sister. When they arrived in Egypt, Sarai was greatly admired and she was taken into Pharaoh's royal household. However, when Pharaoh and his household were smitten with mysterious illnesses, Pharaoh sensed that something was wrong. When Pharaoh learned that Sarai was really Avram's wife and that his taking Sarai had caused this punishment, he asked Avram and his family to leave Egypt.

Return to Canaan. Avram and Sarai returned to the city of Beth El in Canaan. As both Avram and Lot had become extremely wealthy and had many flocks and herds, there wasn't enough pasture land for both of their herds and quarrels erupted between their herdsmen. To avoid conflict, Avram suggested that he and Lot separate, and offered Lot the first choice of which land to settle.

Battle of the Kings. A battle erupted between five kings on the one hand, and four kings on the other hand. The latter was victorious and took all of the possessions and food of S'dome and Amorah and much of its populace, including Lot. Hearing of his nephew's plight, Avram rallied his men and defeated Kedorlaomer and the others, freeing among others Lot. The King of S'dome went out to greet Avram, offering him all of the possessions which he had freed in his victory. Avram, however, refused any rewards for his efforts.

Avram's Heirs. Despite all of his good fortune, Avram was still saddened by the fact that he was childless. Hashem then took Avram outside and told him to look up at the sky and count the stars. "Surely you cannot count them," said Hashem, "so many will be your children." Hashem then made a covenant with Avram (the Covenant Between the Halves), wherein He informed Avram that his descendants would temporarily be enslaved in a foreign land, but that they would emerge with great wealth.

Sarai & Hagar. Because Sarai was childless, she suggested that Avram take Hagar (Sarai's maid) as a second wife. When Hagar became pregnant, she became disrespectful to Sarai. This bothered Sarai greatly, and she complained to Avram, who returned Hagar to Sarai's authority. Sarai dealt harshly with her, and Hagar fled. An angel of Hashem appeared to Hashem and told her to return, promising that the son Yishmael that she would bear would be the founder of a large nation.

Brit Milah. At age 99, Hashem renewed the covenant with Avram, changing his name to Avraham ("father of a multitude of nations"). Hashem commanded Avraham to circumcise himself and all other male members of his household. Hashem also told Avraham that Sarai would now be known as Sarah ("princess for all").

MAIN MINYAN KIDDUSH CLUB

Following a successful tryout over Simchat Torah and the ensuing Shabbat, we have decided to commence a monthly hot Kiddush following the Main Minyan based on kitchen availability. As the cost of a private Kiddush has become prohibitive, the goal is to make a monthly communal kiddush celebrating all the Smachot that month. Along with our annual sponsorships and Simcha sponsors the cost of the Kiddushim becomes affordable to all and allows for a more friendly and social culture on a monthly basis Shabbat morning. We are seeking sponsors on multi levels. We have set aside the following 4 dates for future kiddushim: November 9, December 14, January 18 & February 22.

Simcha Sponsorships are available as follows:

Bar Mitzvah or Aufruf	$360
Bat Mitzvah or New Baby	$250
Birthday or Anniversary	$100
Grandchild or other occasion	$100

We also have an Executive Chef Sponsorship level, which is $1,000 for the year and includes a 20% discount off the above prices if you choose to sponsor at another level during the year.

Your sponsorship will be announced Shabbat morning of the Kiddush from the pulpit and listed in the Weekly. If you would like to sponsor on any level, please contact Matthew Hocherman at mjh@brsonline.org or our Kiddush Club chairs, Donny Cohen & Avi Greenbaum.

We would like to thank our Executive Chef Sponsors

He was known for his incredible breadth of knowledge and depth of understanding. He also served as the spiritual leader of the Shas political party in the Israeli Parliament.

Join us at Seudah Shlishiet next Shabbat at 6:25 pm, as we as a community, both Ashkenazim and Sephardim, mourn the loss of this great leader and learn more about his life and his legacy. We hope you join us for this important community event.

SOCIAL ACTION

A bipartisan group of 78 U.S. Representatives told President Obama that additional Iran sanctions are needed until the Islamic Republic "takes meaningful steps to stop and reverse its illicit nuclear activities."

There is "no substantive evidence to suggest that Iran is slowing, or even considering slowing, its nuclear pursuit" since the election of new Iranian President Hassan Rouhani, the legislators wrote in an October 4 letter spearheaded by U.S. Reps. Brad Schneider (D-IL) and Luke Messer (R-IN). On Monday, Iranian Foreign Minister Mohammad Javad Zarif doubled down on what Tehran is calling its "absolute right" to enrich uranium, potentially putting Iran on a collision course with U.S. diplomats as the two sides prepare for next week's multilateral P5+1 nuclear talks in Geneva.

A national petition sponsored by JCRCs across the country, urges the U.S. Senate to strengthen sanctions against Iran. "We need to send a clear message that until Iran's actions match its words, sanctions must continue unabated." Access the petition at http://engage.jewishpublicaffairs.org/c/627/p/dia/action3/common/public/?action_KEY=15133 (corrected from last week's information)

The Social Action Committee will meet this Wednesday, October 16 at 7:30 pm in the Board Room. Please join us as we begin planning for 5774.

ISRAEL UPDATE

Hamas leader calls for end to talks with Israel October 11, 2013

The head of the political wing of Hamas, Khaled Meshal, called on the Palestinian Authority to cease peace negotiations with Israel immediately, claiming that continuing the talks would endanger the status of Jerusalem. Meshal was in Ankara this week, where he met with Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan to discuss Palestinian reconciliation efforts and regional issues. Also in Ankara, he spoke by video to a rally in Beirut saying only armed struggle against Israel could achieve the right of return and protect Jerusalem. Without mentioning the P.A. by name, he attacked P.A. President Mahmoud Abbas, for renewing talks with Israel. Alluding to Egypt or Syria, Meshal said every people has a right to fight for its freedom, but that conflicts within the Arab world should steer clear of bloodshed, ethnic strife and outside influence.

Our synagogue partners with AIPAC, America's pro-Israel lobby, in educating our community on issues affecting the U.S.-Israel relationship. We encourage you to learn more by contacting AIPAC at (202) 639-5200 or by visiting www.aipac.org.

PLEASE KEEP IN YOUR PRAYERS

Aba Chonah ben Hava Chana - Alan Gross

Yehonatan ben Malka - Jonathan Pollard
Jonathan Pollard has been imprisoned in the United States since 1987. While working as an American civilian intelligence analyst, Pollard has admitted to passing classified information to Israel. Although even his most ardent supporters agree that he was in the wrong and guilty, the nature and length of his imprisonment is disproportionate and unparalleled. Join a multitude of prominent politicians, officials from the national intelligence world, and the legal world who have called for Pollard's sentence to be commuted. For more information and to sign a petition, visit www.jonathanpollard.org.

BOCA RATON SYNAGOGUE CIVILITY STATEMENT

In the spirit of our mission "Valuing Diversity and Celebrating Unity," we believe that a community is built on the collective engagement of individuals representing differing perspectives, whether religious, political, or social. As Boca Raton Synagogue is an environment where all of its members and visitors need to feel valued and welcomed, members are required to comport themselves in a manner which reflects mutual respect and a sense of inclusiveness.

In our Synagogue, we value debate about pressing issues. This is consistent with the American democratic tradition. Our sages saw the value of arguments conducted L'Shem Shamayim, "for the sake of heaven, believing that great minds who engage in respectful debate, will arrive at better solutions. They valued and welcomed alternate views, as do we.

"Derech Eretz," good and proper conduct, and mutually respectful dialogue are core values of the Synagogue community. These create a "safe place" for inspiration and spiritual growth, the central purpose of the Synagogue. It is a violation of Jewish law and ethics to use harsh language (vitriol) to demonize or to marginalize people with whom one may disagree. Uncivil expression reflects negatively on our Synagogue as well as on the individuals who engage in such behavior.

Boca Raton Synagogue expects its members to act and to speak with kindness and sensitivity to others. It is only in this fashion that a strong, vibrant, and harmonious community can be created and maintained. Adherence to this policy is a requirement for membership in good standing at the Boca Raton Synagogue.
